Mr. H. B. Gough

When a man has had a building named in his honor little is left to be said of his achievement;
we ask only that this annual serve as a small tribute to a great man.

Piercing the inky blackness with a shaft of light, stands the north stairway tower.

Looking upward from the entrance of the vocational wing, you see a design symbolic of the future of those who enter.

H. B. GOUGH, SUPERINTENDENT OF ST. CLOUD PUBLIC SCHOOLS

These were the days which sent a thousand rays of light into the mirror of our memory to be reflected back through the years, never losing anything and yet never being quite so bright as the original. . . . May this annual serve as a small mirror to reflect those many happy moments which made this year at Tech so memorable.

The dedication of Tech's new vocational building and of this annual voices the great admiration felt by students and faculty for our superintendent, Mr. H. B. Gough.

For the past 27 years he has untiringly served both our school and our community as Superintendent of St. Cloud Public Schools. Working in close co-ordination with Mr. Gough is the Board of Education. It is this group, composed of St. Cloud citizens, that sets up and carries out the governing policy of our school system.

blueprint our pattern of education.

Mr. F. J. Herda is known to all at Tech as our principal and over-all leader of the school. In addition to his duties of arranging the yearly calendar, assigning classes and the general enforcement of school rules and regulations, he is known and respected for his work with Student Council and National Honor Society.

Working along with Mr. Herda we find the Advisory Board. This group, composed of members of the faculty, handles the varied problems and new matters which confront the school.

In addition to directing Tech's glee clubs, she has also served the community through her interest in music by directing and accompanying church choirs.

Students and faculty alike shall miss her presence here at Tech.

Others work behind the scenes.

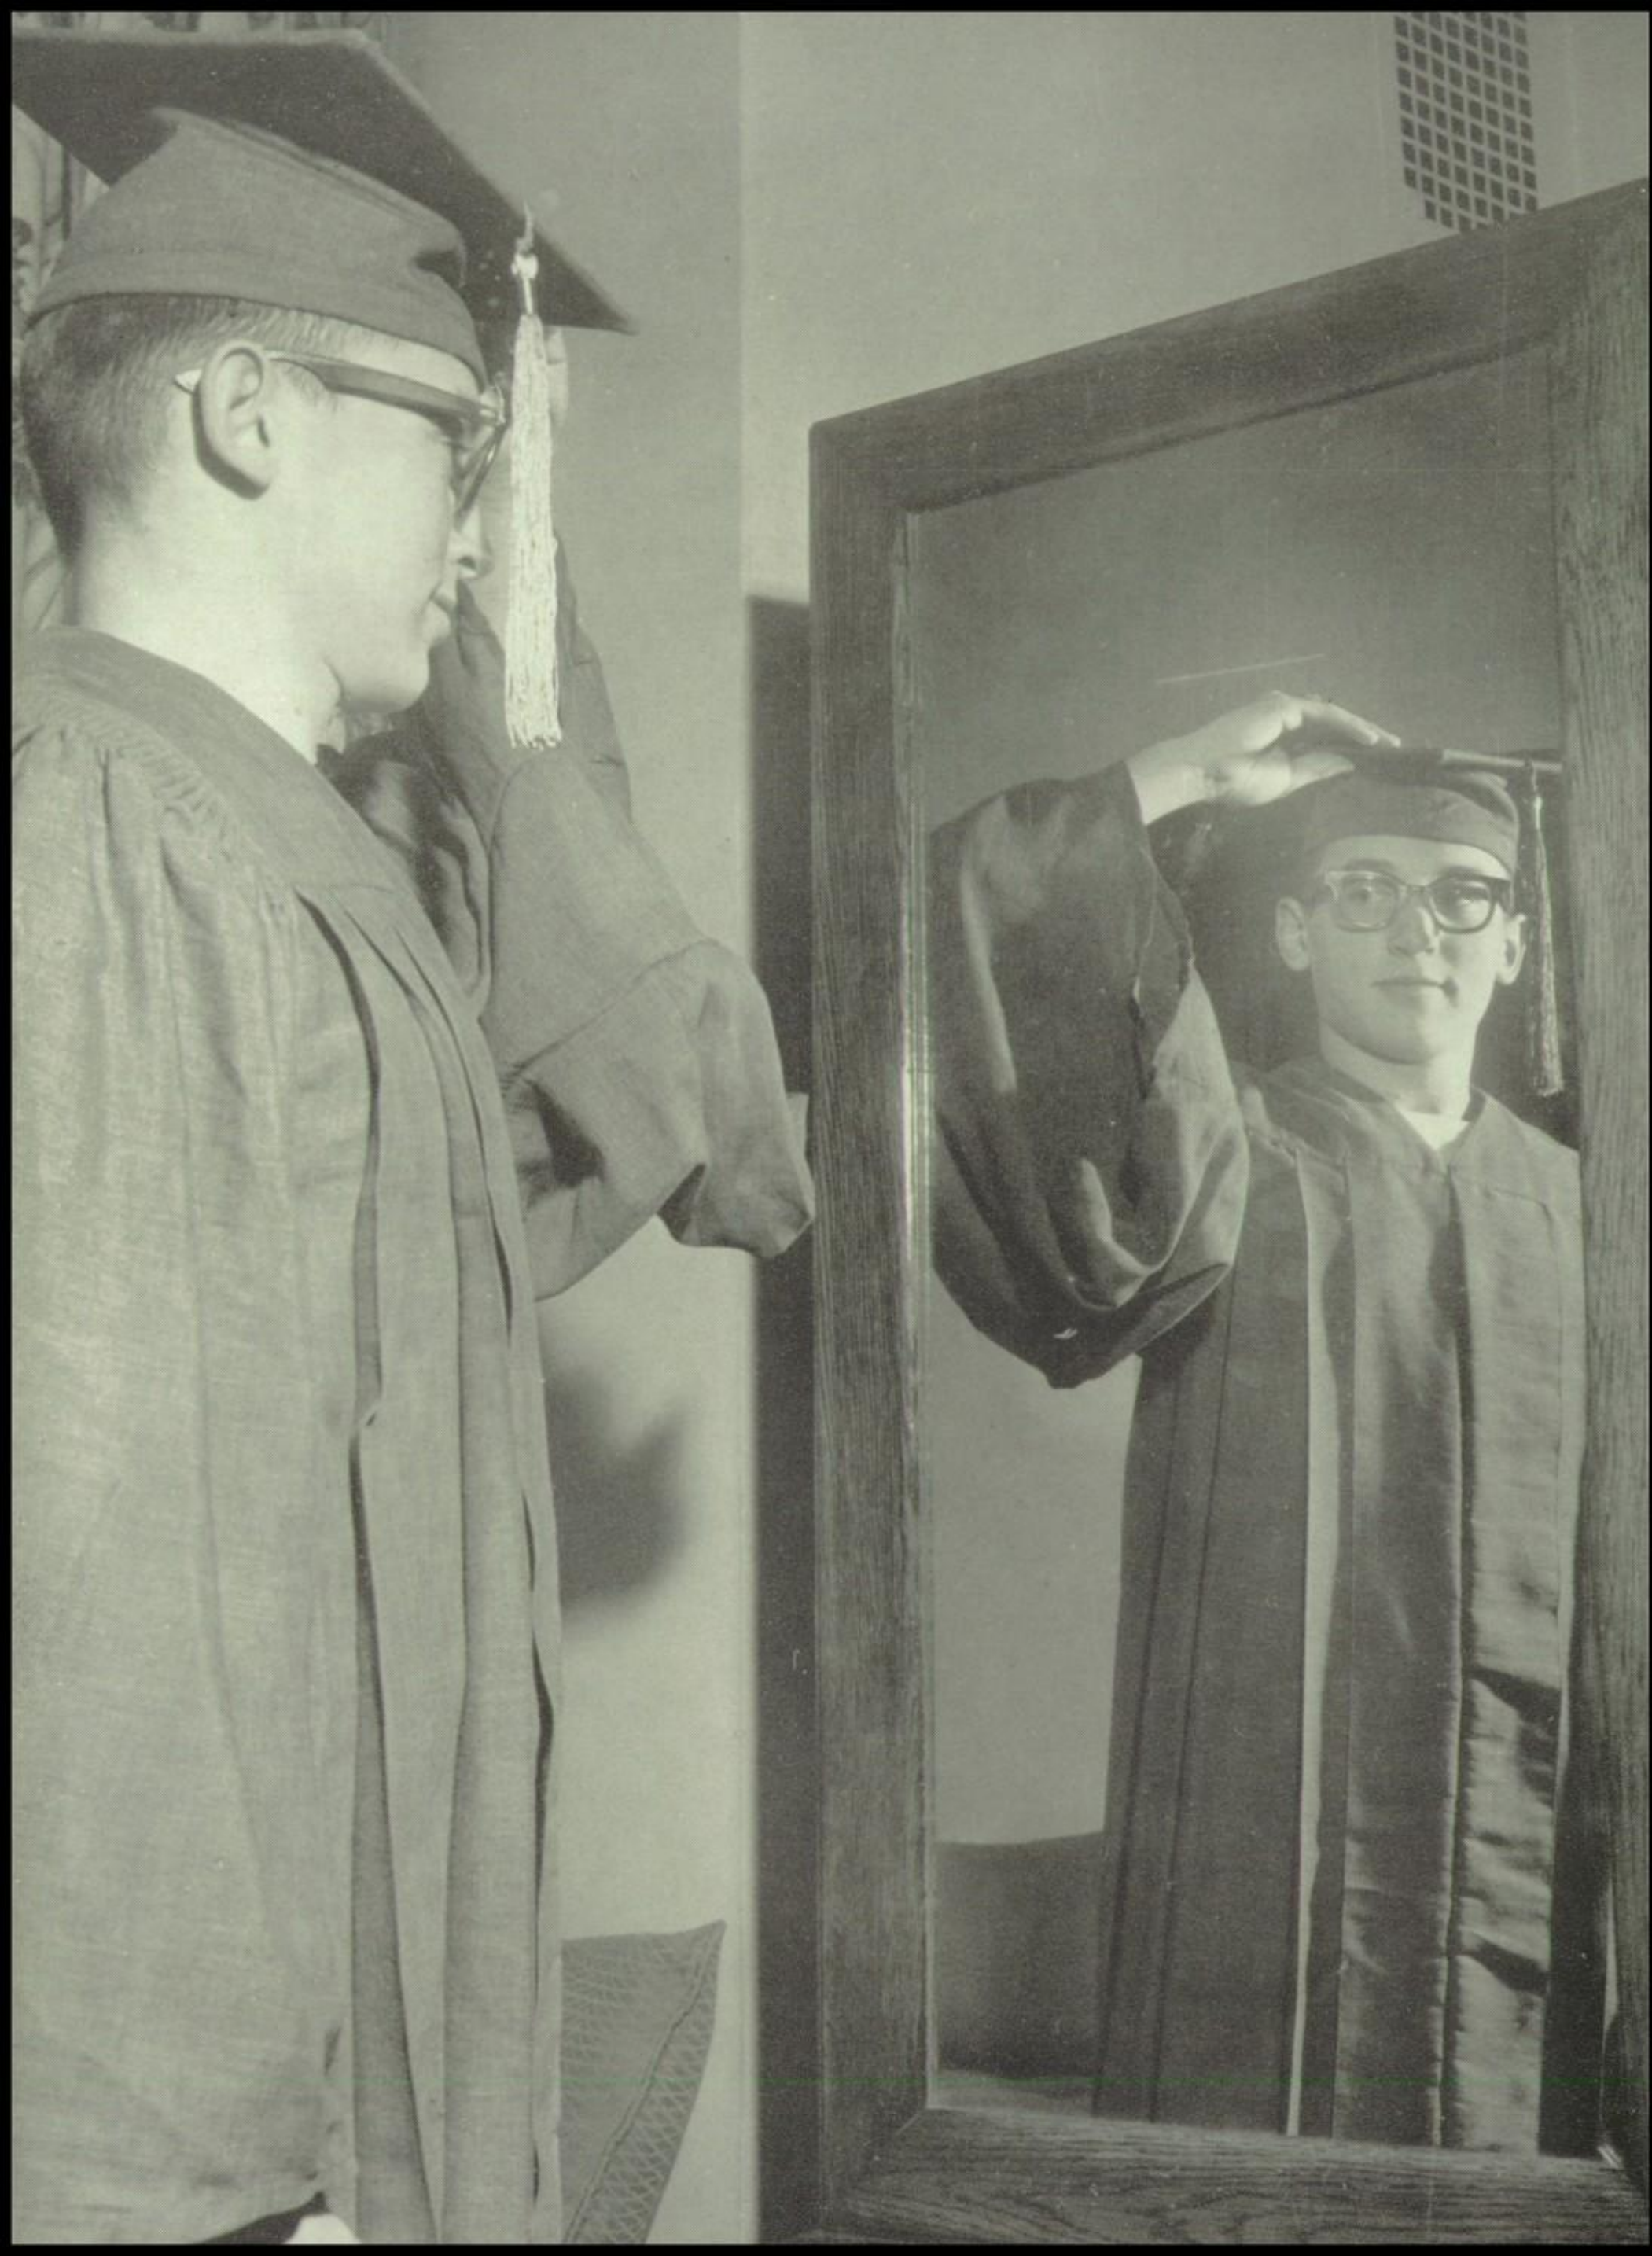

To make them pleasant ones, were those friendly people who kept the halls shining and did the other million things necessary for a comfortable life at Tech.

The maintenance force: standing; Paul Donais, Julius Hollenhorst; seated; Edward Dippold, Milton Storkamp, Francis Lease, Leonard A. Taylor.

Custodians, Lawrence Richardson, Donald Schlangen, Director of Maintenance; DuLane Gilsrud, Floyd Walbridge, Julius Lauer, take a break in their busy day.

Final lap begins; seniors at last!

With a fresh outlook on school, evidenced by that shiny class ring, plus a distinctive swagger, 252 seniors viewed the familiar halls in a different light.

Aided by a new handbook, "said and done", we found ourselves faced with the job of orientation. Not all the new faces belonged to the sophomore ranks though. Our class was spiced with various personalities; two who were able to contribute a unique aspect were Dieter Krummenacker from Switzerland and Irene Luedtke, Germany.

We elected Tom DeZurik as president; Sandra Meyer, vice-president; Barbara DesMarais, secretary; and Edward Opitz, treasurer to handle the business and executive angles of our year.

Senior Officers—S. Meyer, E. Opitz, B. DesMarais and T. DeZurik, make plans for an active class.

Anticipation mounted as we worked for our last homecoming while in high school. The faces of returning alumni reflected past celebrations, and we realized we would soon be in their places. The newly organized Pep Club gave school spirit a real boost.

Our fall National Honor Society inductees were: Marcia Anderson, Jerry Daml, Barbara DesMarais, Joan Hansen, Marcella Kolb, Carolyn Mills, Jerry Mittelstadt, Gail Oberg, Lee Porwoll, Connie Ruhr, Bob Stellmach, Linda Swinney, and Judy Wittmayer.

The spring ceremony added the following: Bob Danielson, Rebecca Denchfield, Dieter Krummenacker, Ann Kuusinen, Irene Luedtke, Audrey Nicholson, Tom Robbins, Gary Rodenz, Donald Schechter, Jerry Scherfenberg, Bob Swiggum, Roberta Teders, and Douglas White.

Necessarily, our year consisted of more than just co-curricular activities. Before we could receive that important diploma, we had to put in many hours on Macbeth, term papers, and themes for Problems of Democracy classes. Sometimes there was a sinking feeling when a dress for home ec. turned out too small, or a chemistry project exploded during the last experiment; but somehow we seemed to pull through in good shape.

Remember Macbeth, chemistry projects, themes?

Tom Lindskog and Jane Anderson discover the many scholarships available to seniors.

"There goes a good pair of slacks", mumbles Ken Roos, while Valeria Johnson stands open-mouthed.

These people and events we will remember.

Speakers at the first NHS induction included J. Anderson, B. Riggs, C. Gulbrandson, A. Nelson.

Miss Patricia Hill, adviser to student council, welcomes foreign exchange students, Irene Luedtke and Dieter Krummenacker.

Honor day marked the beginning of the end for us as we saw the fruits of our labor in high school in the form of letters, awards, trophies, badges, pins, checks, and scholarships. In preparation for the big night, we held practices for the graduation exercises. At the senior tea we had a chance to relive those funny little accidents and incidents of the past three years—the happenings that made high school fun.

"Tech Time" goes on the air with A. Nelson announcer, and music from the four Mellodears—M. Lunemann, J. Willcox, Da. Marsh, S. Meyer.

C. Grewe secures a senior ring picture for her album with the aid of T. Colletti, T. Boatman, A. Olson, A. Nicholson, J. Chisholm, G. Oberg, M. Henning, and B. Swiggum.

Gay enthusiasm characterizes juniors.

Junior Officers: J. Gustafson, D. Bell, B. Belschner, D. Denchfield.

With some previous experience and a lot to look forward to, we juniors started the 1955-1956 school year enthusiastically. Leading our class in executive matters were Dwayne Denchfield, president; Barbara Belschner, vice president; Dannielle Bell, secretary; and Judy Gustafson, treasurer.

We soon found ourselves capable of bigger and better things as we assumed greater roles in curricular and co-curricular activities. One of our roles was in the field of publications; we took over the editing of the TECHNICANA. This year it was our job to select the essays, short stories, and poems composed by the student body.

Our other publication was the junior issue of THE TECH put out in March under the supervision of Barbara Barnes and Emily Henning, co-editors.

Membership in Quill and Scroll, an honorary journalism society, recognized these juniors and their achievements.

Outstanding in scholarship, leadership, character, and service were these N.H.S. inductees: Barbara Barnes, Barbara Belschner, Gretchen Boatman, Jerry Brenden, Susan Corey, Dwayne Denchfield, Judy Gustafson, Emily Henning, Connie Kronenberg, Dwight Machesney, Marcia Meyer, Rosemarie Potter, Mary Powelson, Terry Schmid, Robert Slaney, Gary Strand.

Mr. Herda, W. Wood, S. Corey, R. Slaney and J. Brenden discuss plans for a summer abroad.

We became more important as months rolled by.

Some members of our class packed their suitcases for far away places. Jerry Brenden and Bob Slaney were destined for a tour of several European countries under the sponsorship of the National Association of Student Councils. Sue Corey and Bill Wood were chosen for the American Field Service summer European program.

Distinction was given three students as we selected Girls' and Boys' State representatives. For the first time two, Dorothy Ablen and Connie Kronenberg, went to Girls' State.

In preparation for our senior year, we elected student council officers; the Quill and Scroll banquet brought the announcement of our new editors.

Juniors selected Dorothy Ablen and Connie Kronenberg to go to Girls' State.

Sophomores found it was "said and done."

September 6 found 303 new faces intermingled with those of returning juniors and seniors. The expressions of these new Techites openly reflected their feelings of amazement, confusion, and enthusiasm at the activities here at Tech.

With the aid of "said and done" and those numerous speeches by members of the Orientation Committee, we soon became familiar with Tech and proudly took our place beside members of the classes of '56 and '57. To securely establish ourselves we needed leaders to represent us. To fill these positions we selected Ronald Siegmund as our president, Joyce Fogo as vice-president, secretary Carole Millett and treasurer Wayne Carlson.

We soon found ourselves involved in a whirl of social and scholastic activities. To a hearty mixture of biology, typing, and geometry we added spicy dashes of club activities, pep fests, charity drives and school dances.

Sophomore boys joined the various athletic squads while the girls lent moral support at the games. To unify our outbursts of pep and spirit we elected Carole Millett as our cheerleader. And so we became true Techites.

Wordlists, themes, poems, speeches typify English.

Remember the times you felt a bit weak kneed during speech class when it was your turn to do an introduction, a pantomime, or an after dinner speech? Thanks to Miss Myrtle Bacon, in time that stage fright was replaced with the calm confidence that comes with experience in speaking.

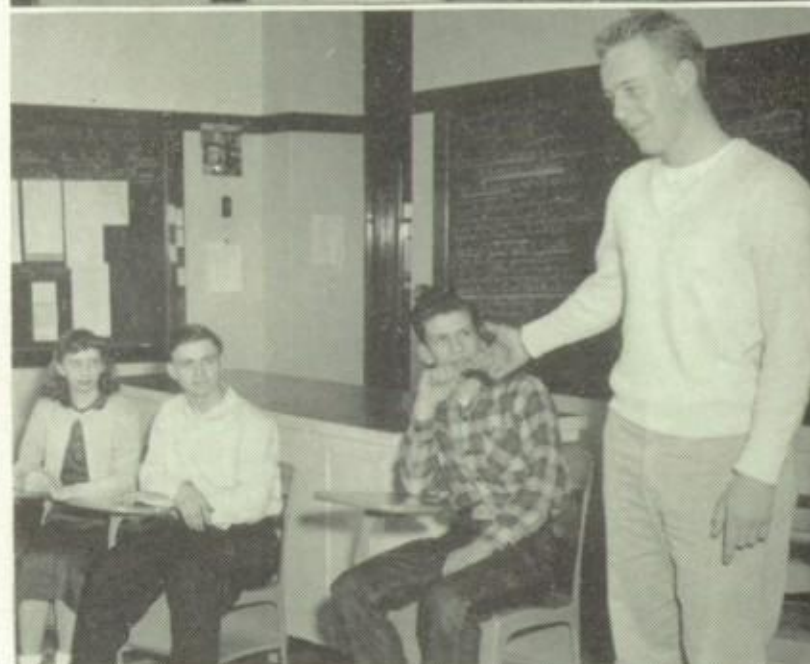

A. Olson and J. Bemis get the hint from Miss Pat Hill that it's time for research themes again.

Miss Moe illustrates the essentials of grammar for D. Barnes and S. Hirschfelt.

B. DesMarais, R. Sartell, and J. Eiffert learn different points of Mark Anthony's speech from Miss Catherine Hill.

Senior speech affords a little amateur acting for J. Jernberg and L. Peterson.

D. Grams and R. Juenemann watch as L. Schueller is introduced by T. Duncan.

Grammar, vocabulary study, literature, and themes are all meaningful in recalling experiences of English classes.

Co-editors of the junior issue, E. Henning, and B. Barnes, discuss the publication with Mr. Nelson.

Languages, journalism open new horizons.

A passerby in the halls on third floor could occasionally catch a nasalized French phrase or a precise Spanish sentence. Several doors down, German songs could be heard mingled with a recitation of Latin verbs. Miss Cecelia Arvanitis teaches Spanish and French; Mr. Theodore Zeyher, German; and Miss Patricia Hill, Latin.

Some students were trained for a year of newspaper or yearbook work by Mr. Donald Nelson. Journalists raised money for a journalism convention trip.

J. Brenden's English dictionary won't help him much in the Spanish country to which Miss Arvanitis is pointing.

Miss Arvanitis hands pictures of Paris to French students, E. Henning, M. Meyer, P. Nicholson, and J. Eiffert.

"This is Germany", Mr. Zeyher tells, J. Haesecke, R. Sporleder, B. Wood, D. Christen, and E. Kuehnl (seated).

Miss Hill helps J. Derr, L. Drayton, S. Corey, D. Baker with their Latin assignments.

V. Lutgen questions the art in the mobile being put up by G. Strand and J. Andal.

First clarinet, Ed Opitz leads his section during a band rehearsal.

Most of us explored the wonders of nature at least one year through courses in science. As sophs, many discovered new aspects of the plant and animal kingdoms through their biology study under Miss Theresa Mulrean. Mr. John Kuffel supervised the juniors as they studied the physical laws of the universe concerning mechanics, heat, light, sound, and electricity. All the budding young chemists in Mr. Horace Hollmeyer's room uncovered for themselves the secrets of the elements which compose our world. Too often the discoveries were accompanied by a disagreeable odor.

Biology has many phases for Utley Kronenberg, including plant study.

In physics class Mr. Kuffel and G. Goehrs explain a tuning fork to J. Leraas.

Nelda Sorenson and Carl Gulbrandson check for a catalytic reaction.

Music, arts, and sciences nurture Techites' abilities.

Mr. Anthony Michalski's art classes learned techniques in cartooning, ceramics, lettering, photography, and making mobiles. Extra projects were pepfest props, posters, and scenery for the senior class play.

Directed by Mr. Erwin Hertz, the band met daily to practice for their appearances. Before school sectionals were held to develop skills.

Technicians, homemakers, food producers trained.

For the mathematically minded student, a varied diet of courses is offered including higher algebra, solid geometry, trigonometry, plane geometry, elementary algebra, and review arithmetic classes. Teachers in this department include Mr. William Frantti, Mr. Ronald Kerr, Mr. John Kuffel, and Mr. Donald Wiederanders.

Mr. Edward O'Connell educates the future food producers of our nation in techniques of farm management, and latest conservation methods.

The success of tomorrow's homes is being insured by practical training offered by Miss Constance Malmsten and Miss Ethelwyn Weir. Home economics courses cover child care, home planning and furnishing, food preservation and preparation, and etiquette.

R. Barnes, K. Neeser and V. Koshiol get help with farm records from Mr. O'Connell, agriculture instructor.

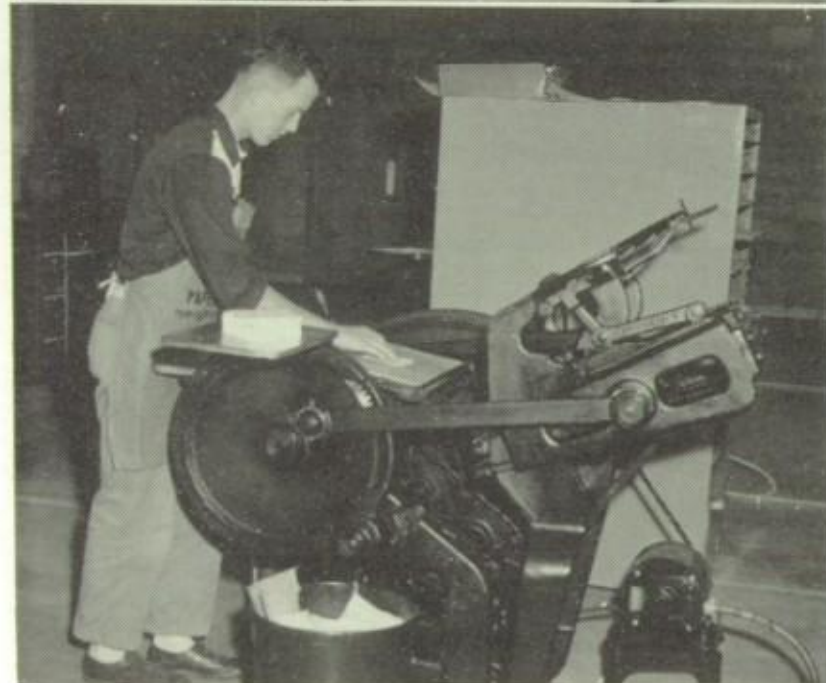

Miss Malmsten notes progress made by E. Nelson who is painting as a part of the home economics home decoration unit.

M. Birk and E. Salzbrun prepare bread dough in the home economics cooking unit.

Mr. Kerr attempts to explain a higher algebra problem to M. Peel, L. Theisen and T. Stein.

K. Boethin in plane geometry class proves a theorem for N. Bartz, J. Banwell and S. Dallmann.

Mr. Benson shows S. Engen and D. Schroeder the right way to do shop drawing.

In woodworking class Roger Negaard finishes up a modern chair.

James Jost prints programs on the Platen Press.

Raymond Eich uses the up-to-date equipment in the new building.

Marlene Saatzer and Shirley Sweeter sand lamp bases for their girl's shop projects.

Use of tools and machines is mastered.

Skills in drawing objects, machine parts, and detailed house plans are developed by Mr. George Benson's shop drawing, machine, and architectural drawing classes.

Fundamentals in using hand tools are learned in woodworking I, while all available power tools are employed for woodworking II projects for Mr. Ralph Myhrman.

Mr. James Leigh's printing classes learn by doing projects for the school, tickets, posters, programs, and publications.

Under Mr. Gerald Henningsgaard's direction, general metal and advanced welding classes learn to operate gas, and electric arc welders.

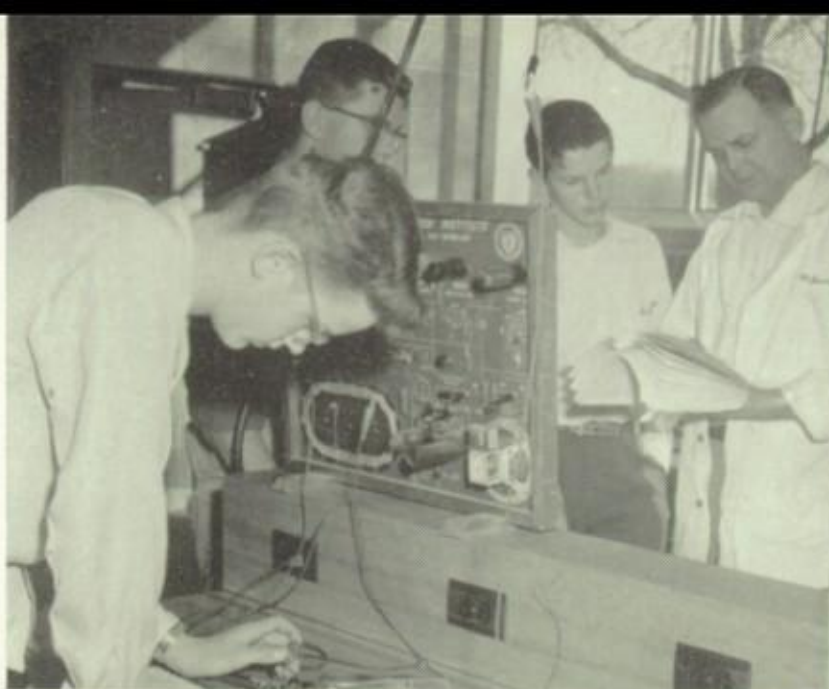

Trade courses give credit in apprenticeship.

The study and repair of the automobile is offered in two courses both under the duplicated garage conditions. The trade course is taught by Mr. Chamberlin and the industrial arts course by Mr. Stai.

Mr. Tice's sheet metal classes start with simple exercises and increase to difficult operations.

Carpentry, Mr. Lowell Johnson's concern, begins with blueprint reading and includes actual experience in construction.

Robert Anderson checks a transistor coil in radio class.

Operating a drill press in the new machine shop are Anthony Lahr and Andrew Rosinger.

The electron theory, house wiring, and radio servicing are covered by Mr. Henningsgaard in his basic electricity and radio and electronics classes. Take home projects are involved with learning operations performed in Mr. Harvey Tice's machine shop.

In carpentry class Don Hill works on construction of a frame building.

Tempering chisels in the forge of the general metal class are E. Fiereck, W. Barnes, and W. Gohman.

Clark Hesche tests the wheel alignment of this car in Mr. Chamberlin's automobiles class.

Miss Kloos times typists J. Schmidt, S. Faelske, D. Jones and J. Rotar.

R. Hill with Miss Almeter checks the mimeograph while F. Biendira works at the adding machine.

D. Heid adds a column of figures at the machine while F. Marvin gets book-keeping pointers from Mrs. Ladner.

Sophomore girls in physical education class watch Miss Johnson, gym teacher, support J. Fogo in a tumbling routine.

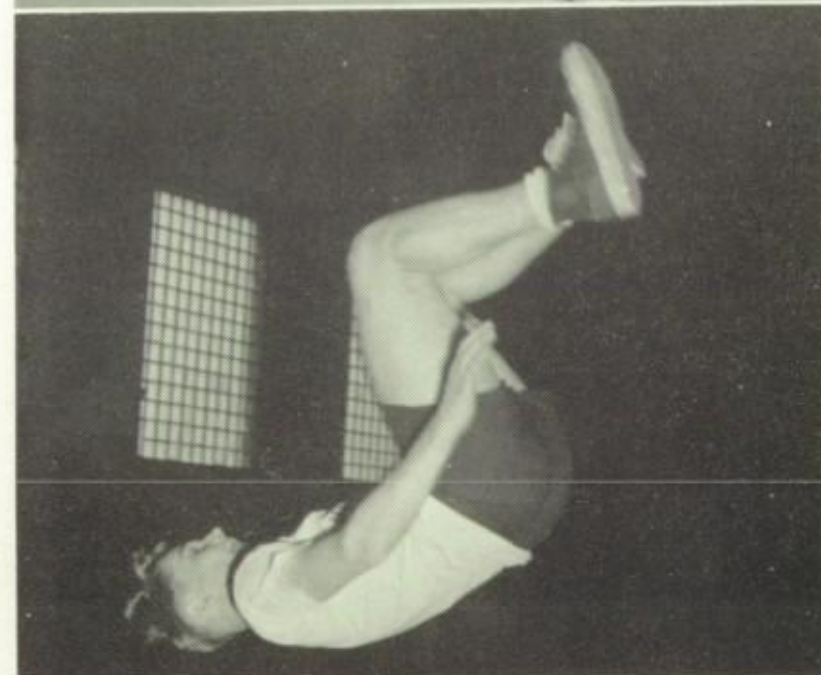

Somersaulting through the air in boys' physical education class is K. Chirhart.

Business, phy. ed. courses prepare minds and bodies.

Many girls are able to launch careers immediately after graduation because of their training in Tech's business classes. Secretarial practice, bookkeeping, business practice and law, typing, clerical office practice, and stenography are supervised by Miss Mary Almeter, Mr. James Becker, Miss Margret Kloos, and Mrs. Armella Ladner.

Coached by Miss Margaret Johnson and Mrs. Lois Scherfenberg, the girl's physical education classes played many types of ball games, danced, tumbled, and swam.

Those of the masculine gender participated in touch football, basketball, volleyball, softball, track, tumbling, coed dancing and swimming. Mr. Lyle Crose and Mr. Don Nylund are instructors.

Techites become trained workers and citizens.

In order to become more effective citizens of the world, our nation, and our city, we took social science courses from Mr. Zeyher, Mr. Begich, Miss Gove, Mr. Bettendorf, Mr. Gruba, Mr. Kasch, and Mr. Morrison.

Part timers gain valuable training from Mr. Hutchens.

Participating in the part time program, Evelyn Smith works making price tags at the J. C. Penney Company.

In operation for 20 years, Tech's Cooperative Part Time program is bridging the gap between school and full-time employment. This past year 44 students gained on-the-job training under school supervision.

Preparation for the part time program, which consists of pre-employment, salesmanship, and occupational relations classes, took place this year in the new vocational addition. Also situated in the new building are the offices of Mr. Warren Hutchens, coordinator and Mr. Robert Miller, director of vocational education, who also act as instructors and advisers.

Mr. Kasch shows seniors Ed Gross and Denny Schmitt that there are problems in our democracy.

Bob Holthaus returns his U. S. History guide sheet to Mr. Begich with a fearful eye.

An enthusiastic world history class reaches for American Observers from Mr. Zeyher.

G. Roske and A. Kuusinen check reference sources with Miss Saathoff, librarian.

Miss Johnson, school nurse, weighs L. Koshiol during physical examinations.

Mr. Bettendorf, one of Tech's counselors, helps C. Killeen plan her year's program.

T. McIntyre gets information about careers from Mr. Sorenson, guidance director.

Mr. Hollmeyer, audio-visual director, threads the machine for another history film.

Individual physical, mental, social needs are met.

Besides the recreational and research opportunities of our library, this year students could buy pocket-size editions of books on subjects ranging from poetry to science fiction. Miss Louise Saathoff is librarian.

Health service is extended to every Techite by Miss Myrtle Johnson, school nurse. Precautionary sight, hearing, dental, and tuberculosis tests are made yearly.

Tech's excellent guidance service, administered by Mr. Ralph Sorenson, keeps records of our interest, aptitude, and achievement tests. These enabled the counselors we chose to help us with our personal, educational, and vocational problems.

Mr. Horace Hollmeyer added pictures to our class learning through visual aids.

Students help to run Tech smoothly and safely.

Certainly deserving of a vote of thanks are those who serve Tech in the capacity of study hall monitors, hall monitors, office messengers, and bus patrol members.

Working in the interest of safety, bus patrol members supervise the loading and unloading of passengers, flag their busses across railroad tracks, and assist homebound persons in crossing busy intersections or highways.

Office messengers maintain a system of communication which both faculty and students find not only convenient, but sometimes very necessary.

Tech's student-run study halls are studied with interest by many other schools. We can be proud of the job some of our classmates have done in supervising studies.

Hall monitors do the necessary enforcing of the regulations set up to maintain neat and orderly halls.

Student council sets governing policy of school.

Under the able leadership of president Alan Nelson, vice-president Tonette Colletti, secretary Gail Oberg and treasurer Thomas Linskog, student council took care of the numerous problems confronting the student body. Besides handling the usual problems, council also initiated many new ideas. Their first project was a revised constitution, followed by a Religious Emphasis Day celebration and an all school carnival.

Student council has charge over the numerous events which make life at Tech an enjoyable stay. In fall they saw to it that we had a most successful homecoming at one of the earliest dates.

As they progressed they also tackled the problems of All Sports Day and Career Day.

Council has charge over the student run study halls and hall monitors. To handle violators of both school and student council rulings Tech has a student Ethics Committee. Ted Boatman served as Ethics Committee chairman.

Ethics committee members R. Siegmund R. Swiggum, W. Riggs, and T. Boatman gather around ethics secretary S. Meyer.

Committee system handles facets of school life.

Student council has under its charge the various committees which handle standing problems.

Charity Drives Committee, under the leadership of Carol Grewe, has the job of organization and general supervision of the various drives around school. With the aid of the service clubs they sponsored half-time basketball collections for the March of Dimes and Easter basket collections for Crippled Children.

Handbook and Orientation committees' work was done during the summer and fall. This year the handbook had a face lifting job and new name added, "said and done". Orientation organized the various speeches and student speakers to help sophomores become familiar with Tech.

Dance committee has the task of setting the dates for the school dances to be held during the year. They handle arrangements such as the band and chaperones.

Our school pep fests are written, produced, directed, and generally supervised by members of the School Spirit committee. Besides handling all the work of pep fests, they also work on the slogans and pep ribbons and all other projects which generally help to give school spirit a boost.

N H S recognizes outstanding students.

One of the highest honors gained from high school is acceptance into National Honor Society. Each year there are two inductions where members, who have been selected by both students and faculty, are admitted because of their high standards of scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

The various activities which the club carries out during the year include the selling of pep ribbons for athletic events at school, sponsorship of the pencil vending machine in the office, and participation in school wide activities such as the school carnival. Officers for the year 1955-56 are president Bill Riggs; vice-president, Mary Dossett; Sandra Meyer, secretary; and treasurer, Edward Opitz.

Terry Schmid signs the membership book while secretary Sandra Meyer looks on.

NHS president B. Riggs, Adviser Mr. Herda, and officers S. Meyer, E. Opitz, M. Dossett discuss project plans.

Valeria Johnson and Tonnette Colletti proudly display the Q & S banner in the staff room.

Jr. Journalists S. Wahlin, J. Miller, I. Hannahs gather their articles published in The Tech.

Quill and Scroll is an honorary society designed to give recognition to outstanding students in the field of journalism. To be eligible for membership in this society the student, either a junior or senior, must be in the upper one-third of his class. The main requirement, however, is that the prospective member has had the required amount of copy published. All applications are then checked by the adviser and approved by the national organization. The Quill and Scroll induction is held each spring at which time the editors of next year's publications are announced.

Journalists honored by Quill and Scroll.

Versatile Tech band produces unique

Versatile is the word for our Tech band. In fall it serves as an excellent marching unit as it performs at home football games. Then as winter comes, it converts to a concert band. During basketball season it splits and forms the Orange and Black pep-bands to play at home games.

On October 11 the entire band traveled to Willmar and later, presented a concert at the St. Cloud Reformatory. In spring they participated in the various music contests.

With the proceeds from their magazine drive the band took a four day trip to Chicago.

marching designs, and concert music.

It's "pep and go" as the band's snappy flag swingers and majorettes add zest and sparkle to our marching unit. Last fall found senior Jeanne Andal at the head of the band for the first time.

The Tech Hi Hats is the school dance band. Composed of fifteen members, the Hi Hats, as well as the band, are under the direction of Mr. Erwin Hertz. Hi Hat members have played for such events as the slacks dance on All Sports Day, Tech open house, and a youth dance at Sartell.

Majorettes: S. Wahlin, J. Andal, B. Jackson.
Flag swingers: B. Plombon, M. Strommer, R. Peterson, J. Leraas.

Mixed voices blend in harmony.

Sing out! And members of Tech's Mixed Chorus certainly do. The chorus is composed of juniors and seniors who have been selected after passing the spring try-outs held by choral director Ames Dahl. Small features of chorus are the mixed ensemble and various trios and quartets.

The Mixed Chorus takes an active part in numerous activities around school. As is traditional, they play a leading part in the Christmas Community Sing. This year they presented a choral program for friends and parents at the open house celebration in the vocational building. They also appeared at the Sunday and Spring concerts.

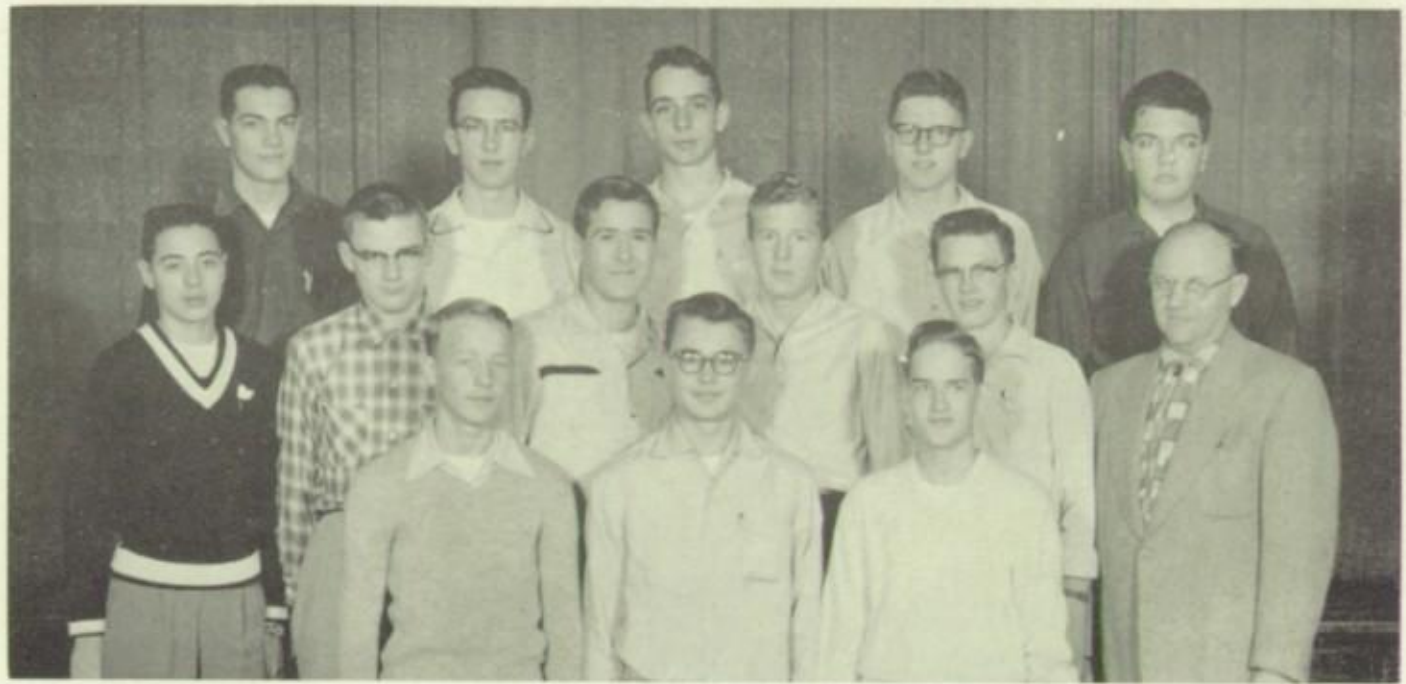

Music Directors: Mr. Erwin Hertz and Mr. Ames Dahl.

Members of the mixed ensemble J. Anderson, S. Rudd, J. Neel, J. Willcox, B. Riggs, S. Meyer, M. Todd, C. Gulbrandson.

We develop our music appreciation.

Boys' Glee Club is the smallest of our choral groups as it is composed only of sophomore boys. Glee Club serves as a type of preparation for Mixed Chorus. After a year of participation in Glee Club, the boys may try for a position in the senior chorus of next year.

Boys' Glee Club participates in the Christmas Sing, the Sunday Concerts and other school assemblies.

Girls' Glee Club, although a larger group, is very similar to the Boys' Glee Club. Membership is open to all girls interested in music who can pass the skills and ability test given at the beginning of the season.

Girls' Glee Club also participates in the various school and community music festivals and in much the same way prepares to join the Mixed Chorus in the next year.

"Meet that deadline" has a familiar ring to the 28 members of The Tech staff. The Tech, our school newspaper is published bi-weekly under the leadership of Judy Wittmayer, editor in chief. The paper is produced by senior staff members, all of which have had one year of journalism, and the junior journalists working under them. This year's publication received the T. B. Press award and a Medalist rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. In late March the junior journalists published the junior issue under the co-editorship of Barbara Barnes and Emily Henning. All editors of Tech publications are selected by the Board of Publications, composed of the advisers and editors of present publications with a student representative from each class. Prospective editors must write a letter to the Board of Publications declaring what position they are aspiring to, reasons for their choice, and policies they would carry out if they receive the position, on either the paper, The Tech, yearbook staff, the Techoes, or the literary magazine, Technicana.

Tech's literary magazine, the Technicana, is published each spring by the Scribes. Scribes, under the direction of Miss Ellen Stovring, sort the various themes, short stories, poetry and essays and decide upon the best work that is to be submitted for publication.

Work on the Techoes began early last spring with the designing of the cover and general layout patterns. As the year progressed things became more hectic. Long night sessions in the staff room were climaxed in this, our '56 Techoes.

Talent plus time create beauty and art.

As is traditional, new hopefuls for membership in Art Club worked feverously in preparation for homecoming. Following homecoming came the annual banquet and initiation. Then things slowed down until time for the spring trip to the Twin Cities for a look at famous art centers.

And waterlogged little mermaids known as members of Aquatic Club put in hour after hour of nightly practices in preparation for the annual Aquatic Club show. This year's show "Swimmin' the Blues" climaxed the season. Then came their trip to a college water show and annual banquet.

Whether they're interest be in square dances, folk dances, waltzes, novelties, members of Techoreos have a chance to trip the light fantastic. The club, under the direction of Mr. L. C. Crose, meets every other week. Meetings not only serve as practices but also offer a night of enjoyment as well as a chance to polish up on their dancing.

The Junior Red Cross Council is one of the largest and most active organizations at Tech. Its ultimate goal, service for others, is attained through their projects of bringing help and joy to the less fortunate. Another of their projects is the joint sponsorship with G.A.A. of the girls' basketball game.

These lively creatures, under the direction of Miss Margaret Johnson, put in many long hours creating new cheers, practicing routines and adding spark to our school pep fests.

Our monogram club opens its membership to any boy who has received a major letter in a Tech sport. Members have this year voted to purchase letter jackets in place of the traditional orange letter sweaters. Pep and sportsmanship mark clubs' interest.

Pep Club, newly formed this year, has attempted to give school spirit a real boost through support at out of town games, pep ribbons, and pep shirts. Members are selected for their qualities of spirit and sportsmanship.

Plenty of pep marks the Girls' Athletic Association too. To this pep, members add a liking for sports and ability in playing them. Membership is open to any girl interested in sports and willing to attend the Thursday meetings.

This year's topic for debate, Resolved: that the federal government guarantee higher education to qualified high school graduates through grants in aid to colleges and universities, brought great success to Tech's debate team. This year's debaters finished their best season as they ended with an unprecedented record of 46 wins to 10 losses. All sophomores, juniors, and seniors participating in debate, under the direction of Mr. Nicholas Begich, received one-half credit for their work this year.

Members of the discussion team also had a successful season. Their topic for the year was, "How can we best reduce juvenile delinquency?" After many hours of practice discussions under the able direction of Mr. Theodore Zeyher five members of the team received a superior rating and moved on to the district speech festival. Three of these traveled on to Buffalo to participate in the regional contest, and Gerald Sprick was selected as an alternate to the state meet.

Teachers, farmers, our resources of tomorrow.

Future Farmers of America is that organization of boys who plan on going into some branch of agriculture. At their meetings the boys gain valuable information on the proper care and handling of animals and the detection of the different soil types. The boys are distinguished by their blue and gold FFA jackets.

Another newly organized club is TNT, Teachers Needed Tomorrow, the local chapter of the national organization of Future Teachers of America. The bi-weekly meetings include informal meetings with new teachers, films on the teaching profession and meetings with Teacher's College group. The club hopes to encourage more students to enter the teaching profession.

Clubs strengthen home and foreign relations.

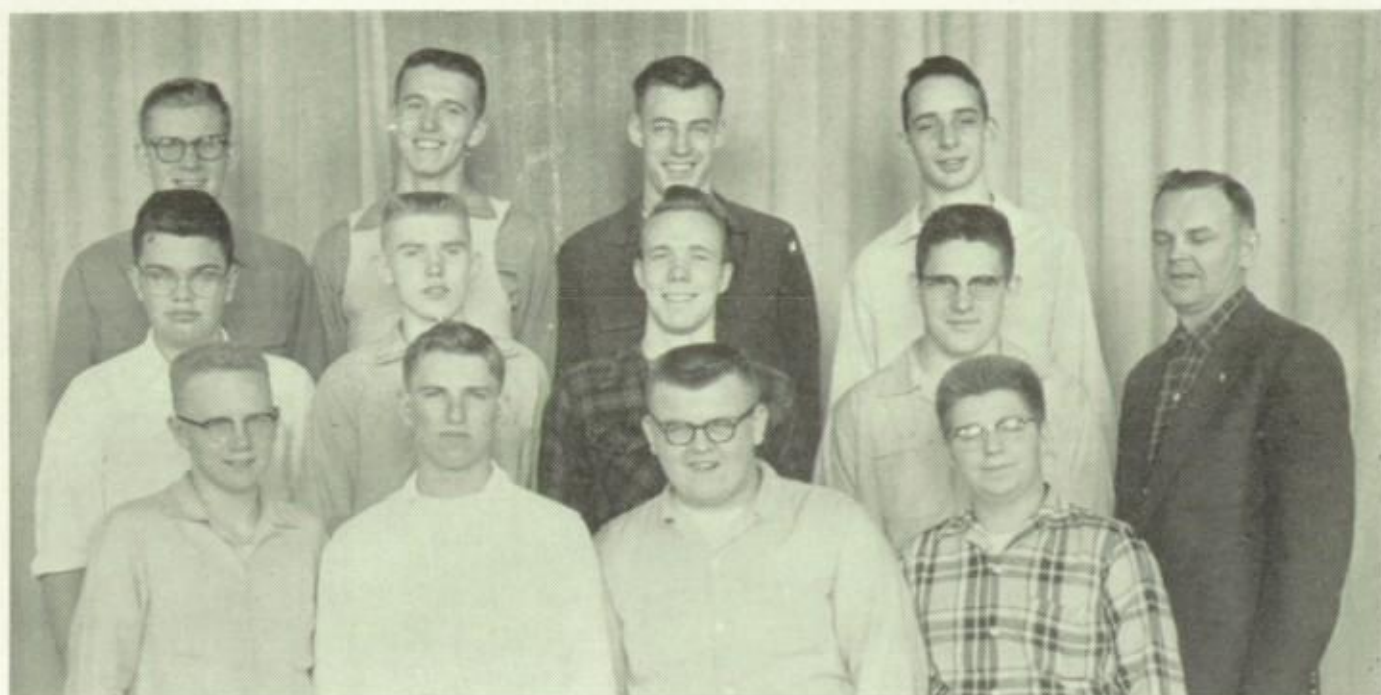

International Relations Club finished another busy year. Members of this club are all either past or present students of Spanish, French, Latin, or German. Honorary members are traditionally the foreign exchange students who add a definite international flair. The club's activities included the presentation of a fashion show with a continental air open to the public, a Christmas party, and projects to better foreign relations.

Members of the Future Homemakers of America have a chance to prepare for the most important career known. The girls, under the direction of Miss Constance Malmsten, gain valuable knowledge and experience in handling the problems of home management, child care, marriage problems, cooking and sewing. Much of their knowledge is put to use as they serve at various suppers held in the school cafeteria.

Other members are interested in building transmitters and their own radio equipment, practicing code, and studying the theory necessary for passing the test. This club also takes over the task of the maintenance and supervision of the television set.

The Junior Academy of Science is a state organization open to any student in high school who is interested in science and has completed a project in any of the different courses such as chemistry, biology, or physics. Service, social fun highlight Tri V, I Hi, SOS.

The three service clubs have this year joined forces to produce the Hi-So-Tri formal, Mist at Midnight. The clubs this year too became affiliated with the school after formerly being independent organizations.

These clubs, besides being lively social groups, also perform valuable services for the school. Members of I Hi have taken over the flag raising ceremony at the basketball games while the girls of Tri V see to it that our trophies are kept shining. Service clubs also help the charity drives through polio collections during the basketball season and Easter basket collections for crippled children.

Split T system initiated by Changing from a 20-year-old single wing formation to a new split T system, Tech's football team tackled the 1955 season under the leadership of their new head coach, Mr. Donald Nylund and assistant coach, Mr. William Frantti.

The nine returning lettermen learning the new method were Jim Chisholm, Carl Gulbrandson, Don Hill, Terry Hopke, Duane Lehn, Tom McIntyre, Ed Opitz, Bob Swiggum, and Jim Yager.

Tech gridmen in '55 season.

Our Tigers lost the season's first to Mounds View at the first competition employing the new offense. After one week successfully spent on improving ball handling, they jumped the Johnnies to strut their stuff.

The half-time lead of 12—0 in our homecoming game seemed to indicate that Tech could knock Brainerd for a spin.

But we failed to "Birl Brainerd"—several costly fumbles and the injury of Chisholm in the third quarter hurt our chances.

The 27—12 win over Crosby-Ironton reflected the fighting spirit left in our men after a defeat. At Duluth the gridders played one of the best games of the year.

With seven returning lettermen, Tech's bucketeers plunged into the '55-'56 season and ended with fourth place in the district championship. Although they played their best late in the season, the majority of wins was earlier.

One of the more notable games was played against Holdingford, in which the Tigers scored almost twice as much as their opponents. The one point win over Long Prairie gave Tech fans an exciting game. Tech led most of the Little Falls game but the teams tied at the final horn, the overtime found Tech losing 58-63. In the Staples game, Tom McIntyre sank a basket by bouncing the ball off Larry Nelson's head. School spirit was at an all time high during the Monticello game which the Tigers lost by a mere three points.

Tech's B-team produced an outstanding ten wins and four losses. They trampled Brainerd and the B-team of district champs, Foley, 57-46. Many other overwhelming wins and tight squeezes gave the B-bucketeers a total of 643 points to their opponents 564.

Two place in region, one in state.

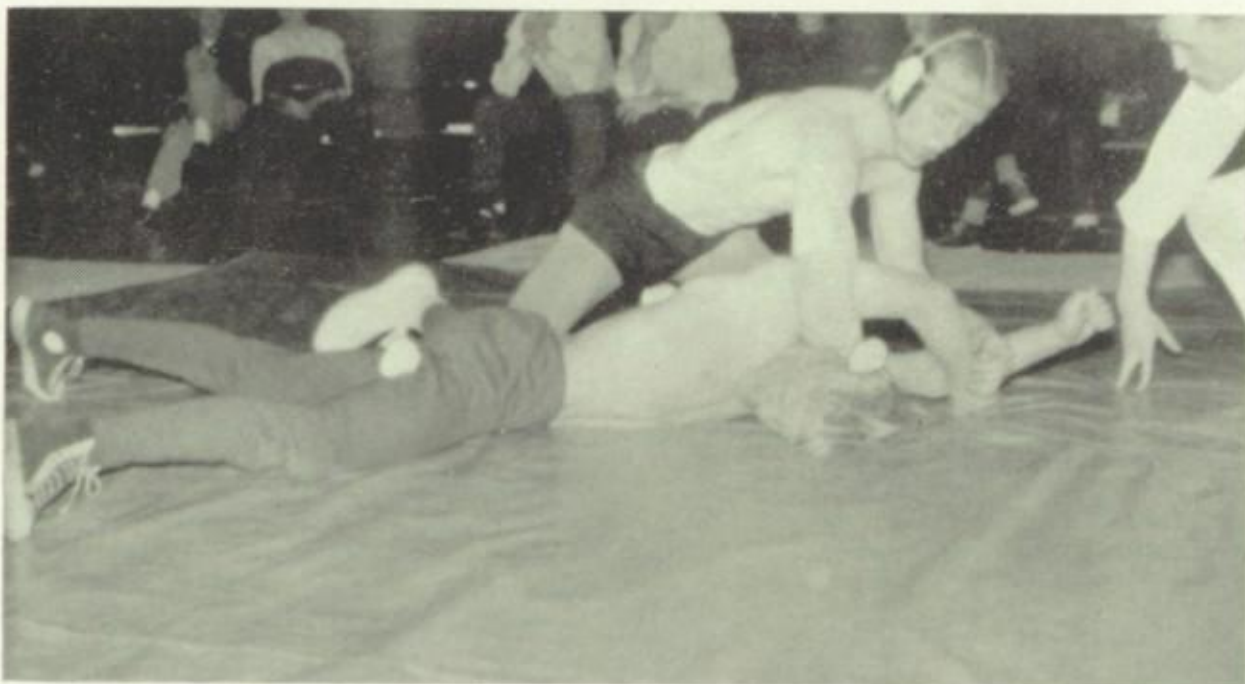

The most powerful wrestling squad Tech has had so far won the conference championship over favored C-I, sent two matmen to the region, and one to the state, who placed fifth.

Because so many Parkermen weighed the same, four or five Tigers wrestled opponents weighing up to 15 pounds more than themselves.

Attributing the matmen's success to their scrappiness, coach Parker stated that the next year should be the payoff for the team because of the many returning wrestlers.

Individual records were outstanding; Weihrauch is 145 pound conference champ, and Slaney captured second, Jernberg, third, and third in the conference matches. Tom Robbins had a 30 win—4 loss standing, Weihrauch, 28 and 2, and Daml, a 12 and 2 record.

Track team achieves high record.

The tiger cindermen, though sometimes neglected by the Tech spectators, have done excellently in the past and continued their good record this season. Since the squad varies from meet to meet, the seniors could not be singled out. Last year, however, the team took second place in the conference meet.

Under Mr. Allen "Dick" Luckemeyer's coaching, the trackmen copped the first place team trophy at the first meet of the season with a total of 48 points. Gary Strand placed first in the high hurdles, discus, and shot put, and broke the meet's record for putting the shot. Don Schechter took the 880 yard dash title, while Don Hill became champion miler, and Bob Swiggum took firsts in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and the broad jump.

With three returning lettermen, Bob Danielson, Tom Ach, and Don Cashman, this years tennis team played an increased schedule. For the first time Tech met Brainerd and several Minneapolis schools as well as their regular opponents. Since the Tigers are the only team in the district, they are automatically in the regional matches.

The "racketeers", as they are known, use a ladder system of rank. That is, they are placed in approximate order of ability and can challenge a player one or two rungs ahead of themselves. The top five on this ladder are the members of the varsity squad, according to coach Malcom Doane.

A new venture took place this year—the formation of a golfing team. Under the leadership of Mr. Becker, the team ran competition with other schools of the district.

The faculty was victorious in the annual fishbowl game. The final score before both teams cleared the benches and played full force, was faculty—48, varsity—38.

Great moments

Spotlighted in white, five finalists for the 1955 Homecoming Queen title were escorted to the stage by football team members. A silent audience broke into applause as co-captain Don Hill singled out Sandy Meyer to be crowned. Following on the program were three alumni speakers and a skit, "The Big Playoff", presented by the senior speech class.

Rain on the night of the bonfire failed to dampen Tech spirit. A pepfest was held in the auditorium followed by an informal dance. Friday, September 23 brought a flag raising ceremony and the big homecoming assembly and coronation. At the game, although Tech was ahead 12-0 at the half, the final score found Brainerd winning 18-12. During the half-time, Queen Sandy was presented with the traditional gold locket.

Excitement marks festivities

At the previous Friday's assembly, Dixie Goehring displayed the pin she designed.

Students sang "The Star Spangled Banner" as the band played at the annual flag raising.

After the game, royalty began the dance held in the north auditorium. "Penthouse Serenade", the theme for the dance, pictured a city skyline as seen from a rooftop. This year, with less time to prepare, the Art Club worked double time to create decorations for the dance and the school grounds. Plans for the total picture of homecoming were started early in June as chairman Tonette Colletti formulated committees for the bonfire, slogan and pin, assembly, invitations, and coronation.

Sports Day spent backing teams

January 27 marked Tech's third annual All Sports Day celebration. Festivities were officially begun with the coronation ceremony. Cheerleader Mary Dossett and football co-captain Don Hill were selected reigning royalty of the day. After receiving their crowns from Miss Margaret Johnson, in Superintendent Gough's absence, and Principal F. J. Herda, the pair were seated in their sleigh, the vantage point from which they viewed the entertainment provided for their enjoyment.

King and queen, Don Hill and Mary Dossett, reigned happily over the sport filled day.

Oscar the snowman had a bird's eye view of the festivities.

Attendants, J. Redding, T. Colletti, C. Wink, B. Swiggum, L. Nelson, M. Anderson, G. Oberg, J. Chisholm, King, D. Hill, Queen, M. Dossett, sat in a wintery atmosphere for the assembly and coronation.

as snowflakes flew.

To emphasize the feeling of sports and sportsmanship, the student body came aptly garbed in sports clothing with the masculine gender sporting ski sweaters while their female counterpart appeared in the otherwise taboo plaid slacks, ranch pants, or downhill.

The main objective of the day was to spotlight sports here at Tech. Though we won our wrestling match with Dassell, we dropped basketball to Staples 73 to 61 and hockey to Minneapolis West 4 to 2. But in the equally important aspect of building up strong school spirit they were victorious as a dynamic student body cheered on their athletes. The day was terminated with a slacks dance in the north gym.

Jim Mence and Carole Millett join the crowd at the slacks dance that night.

"Jerry, come on now!" Tom and Jerry Robbins had a lively sister to cheer them both on to victory in the wrestling match.

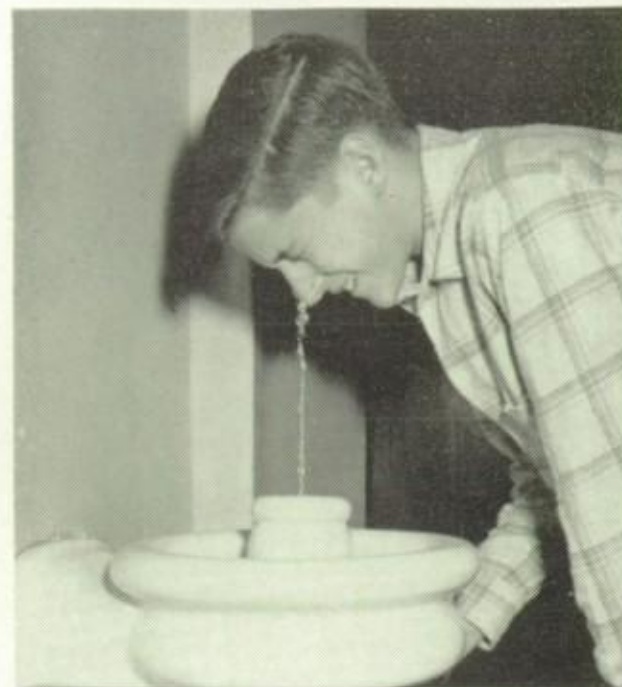

Gary Rodenz and Marcella Kolb provide a humorous take-off of Art Blaskie's disc jockey show at the assembly.
